

Problem Solvers

Read each scenario and select which statement best solves the issue described.
Form a group of three and discuss each choice.

1. Government funding of interstate highways
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone
2. Providing assistance to the poor through government-issued food stamps
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone
3. Providing education by religious institutions to promote their specific moral standards
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone
4. Creating the Department of Homeland Security by the federal government to protect the country from the threat of terrorism
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone

Continued on the Next Page →

← Continued From the Previous Page

5. Community groups providing outdoor recreation opportunities to disadvantaged youth
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone

6. Providing training to neighborhood-watch groups by law-enforcement agencies
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone

7. Providing food and shelter for the homeless by both state government and private groups
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone

8. Community groups arranging for young people to visit elderly members of the community who live alone
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone

9. The federal government providing tax incentives to businesses for them to operate in areas of high unemployment
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone

10. The Board of Education authorizing the creation of a new charter school
 - A. Government solving problems alone
 - B. Government and civil society working together to solve problems
 - C. Government and civil society solving the same problem, but separately
 - D. Civil society solving problems alone