

Pick the Problem

- Write a list of potential topics from the study groups for the public policy project.
- Each student will get five sticky notes or something similar. Decide which topics you like best and place your sticky notes next to them.
- You can use all five on one topic or spread them out however you want.
- After everyone has voted, count the votes to see which topics got the most votes.
- Your class will discuss the results and choose a top topic.
